New York, Columbia University, Rare Book and Manuscript Library, Western MS 016

Description: pp. 192 - Bound, s. XVI, in English calf, gilt; remains of two fore edge green silk ties. - Acquired by Maggs, 1930, from an unidentified London auction; in their Cat. 572 (1930), no. 10 with a translation of Machiavelli's Prince and Sir Francis Vere's Commentaries (suggestive in that Golding was uncle and sometime tutor to Edward, 17th Earl of Oxford, who in turn was cousin of Sir Francis Vere). Sold by them to Jules Furthman (1888-1960), bibliophile and Hollywood screenwriter. Sold by Furthman to the New York book dealer, John Fleming, from whom it was purchased in 1959 by the Class of 1923 for Columbia University. - W. W. Greg, English Literary Autographs, 1550-1650 (London: Oxford University Press, 1932) entry No. 35 B for a receipt in Golding's handwriting. Facsimile of Arthur Golding, A Moral Fable-talk with introduction, notes and glossary by Richard G. Barnes, and with reproduction of the etchings by Marcus Gheeraerts from the Mythologia ethica of Arnold Freitag (1579).
